Ste. Michelle and Washington State University

We would like to draw your attention to a special program. We are participating in the 2nd annual Ste. Michelle wine promotion for the benefit of Washington State University Enology program. For each case of Ste. Michelle wine sold between October and December of 2009, a $3/case donation will be made to the University to help in funding scholarships and research, hire faculty and purchase equipment. Below is a list of wines included in this program. We thank you in advance for your support.

Ideal Serving Temperature

The correct serving temperature for wine is important. We maintain the following serving temperatures for our wines by the glass: Red wines at 60-65 degrees, White wines at 45-50 degrees, and Sparkling at 40-45 degrees.

For our wines by the bottle program, our red wines are maintained at cellar temperatures (60 degrees) while our white and sparkling wines are held at 50 degrees in our climate controlled wine cabinets. When ordered we will place your champagne on ice to chill it to the proper temperature and we recommend letting your red wine warm slightly before enjoying.

Graham's Aged Tawny Ports are made from wines of the very highest quality which, following careful selection are blended and subsequently matured in seasoned casks for a number of years until their peak of maturity is attained. Here we present a grand collection of Tawny Ports representing 100 years of cask aging. These ports present complex, savory, toasty aromas with tastes of dried fruits and nuts.

Preserving Open Wine

Even at home, an open bottle of wine can be kept for up to several days. The simplest method is to replace the cork and put the bottle in the refrigerator, where darkness and the cool temperature work to keep the wine fresh. We go one step further. We use our state of the art Le Verre de Vin wine preservation system to vacuum seal our open still wines and to re-pressurize our open sparkling wine with carbon dioxide. Our wines are always stored away from light at the proper temperature to further protect their freshness. Of course we never seem to keep open wine around long enough to worry about this (even at home).
